San Diego Repertory Theatre

presents

Culture Clash

in AmeriCCa

a riotous blend comedy and social activism

by and starring Richard Montoya, Ric Salinas and Herbert Siguenza

Friday Feb. 19th @ 8PM

Tickets are only $30 when you call the Box Office with the code "ACLU"!

Includes a free reception and a discussion with the stars of Culture Clash

Box Office # (619) 544-1000

in the Lyceum Stage

"You laugh, you enjoy, all the while sensing that you're also seeing something authentic, something important that lurks underneath politics and headlines."

—Steven Winn, San Francisco Chronicle

Change has come in America. And nobody shows us the intimate details of a more perfect union than the Culture Clash trio with their out of the box comedic AND dramatic entertainment.

For over two decades this ensemble of writer-actors have practiced the art of theatrical-social anthropology by digging deep into America's culture to formulate their outrageous brand of "performance collage."

As in all of their memorable comedic sketches, the characters in AmeriCCa are adapted from real interviews with people from across the U.S. who live radically diverse lives. The troupe's signature use of satire, vaudeville, mime and spoken word dramatizes the voices of the socially invisible and the New Americans, offering a fresh examination of cultures in flux. From Cuban exiles and Haitian immigrants in Miami, to a Puerto Rican political activist in Manhattan, to commies and dot-commers rubbing elbows in San Francisco's Mission District, to expatriates in Tijuana and Ugandan cab drivers in San Diego, these are unforgettable characters who will leave you gasping, laughing and cheering.

SAN DIEGO REPERTORY THEATRE

in the Lyceum Theatre at Horton Plaza
free parking at the Horton Plaza parking garage for up to 6 hours!

San Diego Repertory Theatre
79 Horton Plaza, San Diego, CA 92101

box office: 619-544-1000
administration: 619-231-3586

www.sdrep.org

facebook | myspace.com a place for friends | twitter | WordPress.com